2) "Who is doing the work of translation?"

The process of translating liturgical texts from the original Latin is a highly consultative work done by several groups. The International Commission on English in the Liturgy (ICEL) prepares English translations of liturgical texts on behalf of the conference of bishops of English-speaking countries. The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) and the other member conferences received draft translations of each text and have the opportunity to offer comments and suggestions to ICEL. Then ICEL proposes a second draft, which each conference approves and submits to the Vatican for final approval. Each conference reserves the right to amend or modify a particular text.

At the Vatican, the Congregation for Divine Worship and the Discipline of the Sacraments examines the translated texts, offers authoritative approval (recongnitio) of the texts, and grants permission for their use. Currently the Congregation is aided by the recommendations of Vox Clara, a special committee of bishops and consultants from English-speaking countries. The Translation and review process is guided by the guidelines in Liturgiam Authenticam, issues in 2001, an instruction from the congregation that outlines the principles and rules for liturgical translation. In 2007, the Congregation also issued a ratio outlining the specific rules for translation in English.

The 13th Annual Kids Helping Kids Walk benefiting Columbus Home Children's Services, a program of Catholic Charities, takes place Sunday afternoon, April 10, 2011, on the grounds of Knoxville Catholic High School. The event features a rain-or-shine fun walk, family-friendly games and activities, and complimentary refreshments. Register now at columbushomewalk.eventbrite.com. For more info, text WALK to 41522 or contact Elaine Evans, (865) 524-9896, ext. 1003/elaine@ccctn.org.

Each week at mass, we are invited and called to full conscience, active and fruitful participation in the liturgical worship. Consider reading then reflecting on the scriptures for the coming Sunday Mass.
