Pastor's Rundown:

Last Sunday we came to the end of the liturgical year, and as always, we look to the future; the ultimate future when Jesus will return in glory for the final judgment. The Church calls that Sunday, the Feast of Christ the King, a feast on which we celebrate God's Kingdom – God's Rule.

Pope Pius XI established this Feast in 1925 at a time when fascism was on the rise and the world was about to experience Hitler and Mussolini. How different Christ's rule is from the ruthless governance of these men. Although these tyrants were not Kings, they reigned in ruthlessness and cruelty. And, even in death, still have the power to make the world shudder in fear. Will it happen again – to us, we hear ourselves asking?

We have so many bad memories etched in our consciousness from a history of ruthless leaders – even Kings. Many, including myself, become uncomfortable when the term 'King' is applied to Jesus. But, we really shouldn't be afraid. Listen to what Jesus said:

"My kingdom is not from this world. If my kingdom were from this world, my followers would be fighting to keep me from being handed over...but as it is, my kingdom is not from here." Then Pilate asked him, "So you are a king?" Jesus answered, "You say that I am a king. For this I was born, and for this I came into the world, to testify to the truth." And the truth that Jesus came to testify to was God's love, God's mercy, God's forgiveness, and God's call to repentance.

Jesus' Kingdom is not about ruthless power, or royal attendants, or all those things we think of when thinking of kings. Lumen Gentium describes Christ's Kingship in these few words, "to reign is to serve." Matthew Gospel sums it up best, I think, when it says: "The Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, to give his life as a ransom for the many" (Mt. 20:28).

Each week at mass, we are invited and called to full conscience, active and fruitful participation in the liturgical worship. Consider reading then reflecting on the scriptures for the coming Sunday Mass.
